The state seems to be powerful,
as long as we do not fight it.

THE SITUATION IN GREECE

In the last 3 months of 1997, there was a mobilization among several society pieces, as students and pupil. The pupil occupied schools, as they do every year since 1990, interrupting the educational procedure. From the other hand, students mobilized again, after 10 years, because of a new law for education, same as this which for French students, pupil and teachers mobilized in the past. The students mobilizations seem to continue in the future. The participation of anarchists in these mobilizations, were not small. It was what it was needed to create clashes and for the mobilization to take a more violence form.

The same time, the attack to several state targets were increased. The variety of the targets and the frequency of the hits, by the same time presence of the anarchists to every mobilization, show the multiformity that social war develops, without close in upon to economical or other matters, which do not target the state itself.

The economical attack, of the state, against the society increases all the time. In the last three months, 3 people died from starvation, while the number of unemployed and homeless people who live in train stations and basements or abandoned houses, grows.

As anarchists, we will continue to promote the struggle and the multiform actions against the state and every authority, without retreats and negotiations.

The state seems to be powerful, as long as we do not fight it.
